10 Years of MASS LBP

There is a mass of sense that lies in a dormant state that good government should quietly harness.

—Thomas Paine

For ten years, MASS LBP has worked to strengthen the connection between citizens and their state. Fundamentally, we believe in people, which is why we are working to see that more people have a hand in shaping the policies that shape their lives.

What is MASS LBP?

MASS LBP is a community-based program that provides a safe and supportive environment for people who are experiencing homelessness. The program offers a range of services, including case management, job training, and access to food and shelter. MASS LBP is a partnership between the City of Boston and the Massachusetts Department of Housing and Community Development. For more information, visit www.mass.gov/lbp.

Partner-Centred
A partnership may benefit policy areas the most but an active role must be taken by the partner and the government. The partner must have the capacity and resources to take on the role of partner. The partner must be able to take on the role of partner and be able to take on the role of partner. The partner must be able to take on the role of partner.
